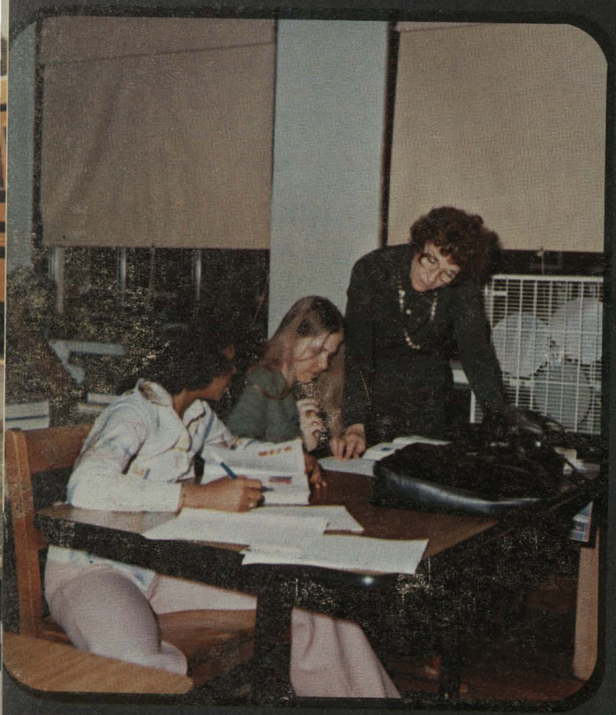
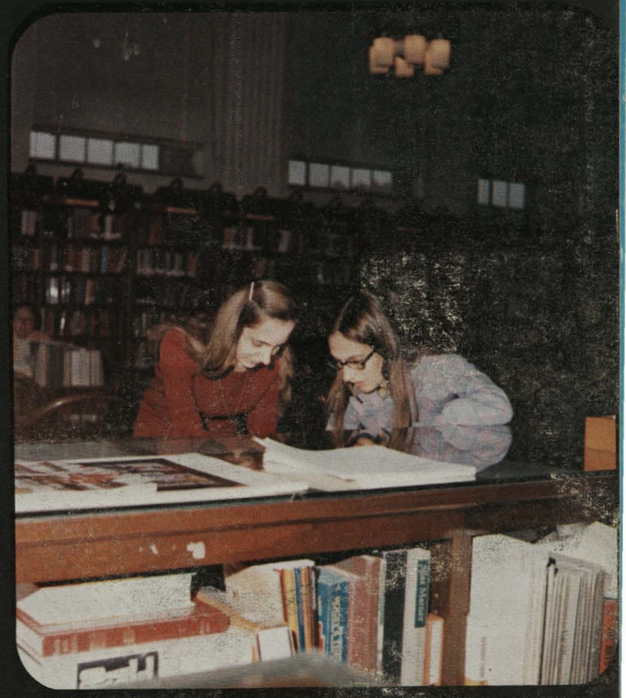
Supporting characters

No plot would be complete without the supporting players, character actors and extras who provide and set the stage or environment in which the principal characters develop their parts. And so it is with the story of a school year.



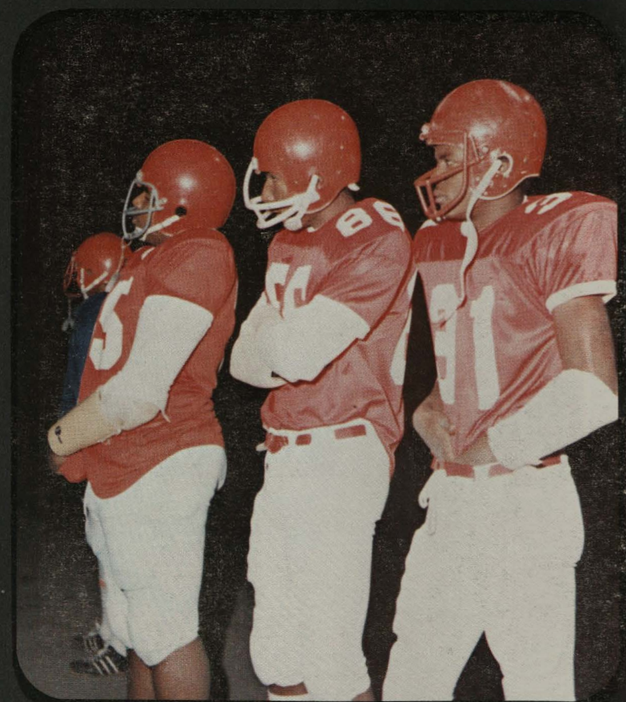


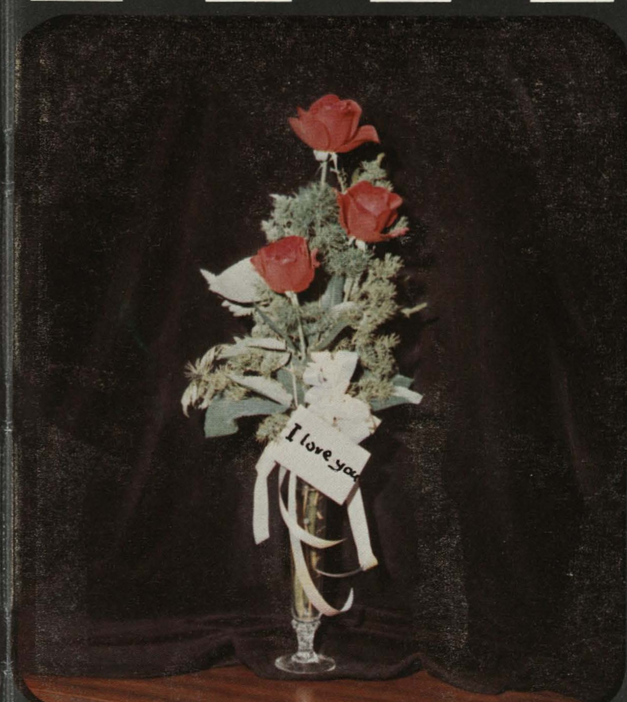
In a story of comedy and tragedy ...

Every great motion picture has its times of laughter and moments of tears. In the words of Shakespeare, "The world is a comedy to those that feel and a tragedy to those that think". And so it is with the story of a school year.

a story of triumph and defeat . . .

During every character's performance there comes a time, or perhaps many times, when he may fall to depths of defeat and must pick himself up again to climb to the heights of triumph. And so it is with the story of a school year.





and a story of love and loneliness.

No movie would be complete without the flavor of romance and the "they lived happily ever after" ending. Yet every "boy meets girl" plot has times when the characters must be alone. And so it is with the story of a school year.

Thus Quiverian '77 presents "The Reel Life", a story of a school year filled with all the same ingredients that were essential in producing the great motion pictures of all times.

And now enjoy the show.

(1) The architectural beauty of Wyandotte is enhanced at night by the lights of the building. (2) Big Red has many shady trees on its spacious campus, as seen from the west side looking toward the Boys Gym. (3) The front of the auditorium shows the intricate mosaic work adorning the building. (4) Since 1937 the twin towers have reigned over the corner of 25th and Minnesota as a symbol of Big Red. (5) Mysterious plaques hang above two doors on the back campus. A search through school history and an interview with the living architect who designed Wyandotte offered no insight as to why the plaques are there.

Library boasts new security system for reducing theft

The entrance to the library got a new facelift for the first time since the building was constructed almost 40 years ago. A maze of equipment slowed traffic as patrons came face to face with the new Magnavox Security System. The library was closed the first three weeks of school while the system was installed in the hopes of preventing the loss of books year after year. Another innovation made since 1937 has appeared at the stadium. Last summer the Board of Education installed new lights and bleachers. This year an all-weather track was added at an estimated cost of $38,000. The new track is relaively maintance free and will lessen scheduling problems because there won't be the rain-outs as with the cinder track.

(3)At a pep rally, varsity cheerleaders Pam Birch and Karen Owens prove to Bulldog fans that they have spirit just like the 'Fonz'. (4)Darryl Eatman, senior, and Mavis Weber, junior, find time for a brief conversation while trying to warm themselves by the fireplace. (5)Mr. Collier discusses with Denise Smith the office work that involves attendance records.

Social Hall remains a favorite attraction to students

A traditional place for students to gather and discuss the events of the day was Social Hall. Its majestic marble pillars and large fireplaces lent a warm and familiar atmosphere to the gathering place. Also in the large hall were trophy cases which bring the glories of both present and past Wyandotte students in athletic and other endeavors to the attention of current students passing through on their way to classes. Echoes of cheering athletic supporters rang in the halls as Friday morning pep rallies were held to cheer the teams on. Signs covering the walls proclaimed Bulldogs as "#1" and inspired the girls basketball team to "stay on top." Candy and tickets were peddled by club members to passersby. Practice for cheerleaders, yell leaders and bannerline were held after school. Thus much of the school life has revolved around the Social Hall for many years and probably will continue to in future years.

Summer months bring lasting memories for students

Many students looked forward to their vacation plans as school books closed and they said good-bye to schoolmates for another summer. For three short months students and faculty pursued their summer plans. Some took summer jobs pumping gas, working at Worlds of Fun, or perhaps at the swimming pools. The more fortunate ones traveled during the summer, some to the Ozarks, Hawaii, or accompanying their parents on family vacations. Lots of summer evenings were spent partying, snacking at Peters Drive-in, or watching a ball game at 3 and 2 Park. If only the nine school months could go by as quickly as the three summer months. Soon school bells were ringing, books were opening and students and faculty were united again.

Hangouts provide exciting moments, fond memories

For many years afterschool hangouts have played an important part in WHS student life. Local places such as Taco Kid, Peter's and McDonald's have been among the many "in" places for numerous Wyandotte students to meet "the gang" after school and Friday night games. A hot burrito from Taco Kid, a Big Mac from McDonald's or a quick buzz through Peter's were the main attractions of these hangouts for students. The Friday night get-togethers with the gang were one of the many ways of unwinding after five long days of hitting books, homework and tons of hassles. At these places students could make new friends, take up old friendships, hear the latest gossip, or just relax and try to forget the worries of the week.

Cool weather, brightly colored leaves introduce fall

As autumn once again took its toll, a new school year has started. Students stepped into the daily ritual of school books and teachers. Although the school year was in full swing and books were being cracked, there were always those Friday night football games and a party or so afterward to ease the tension from a tough week. As the leaves turned shades of brilliant colors, anticipation rose at the thought of a cool afternoon. Excitement grew in the hearts of many youngsters as Halloween drew near. Soon doorbells were ringing and pumpkins with their carved faces set the scene for a spooky, but enjoyable Halloween. This was the time of season when the smell of leaves brought to Big Red's attention the autumn activities.

Homecoming theme centers on 'The Great Pumpkin'

The Homecoming game started the celebration off with Wyandotte Bulldogs competitng against the Ward Cyclones. The Griddogs defeated the Cyclones by a score of 13-6. During halftime, the traditional ceremony of crowning the queen, princesses and their attendants took place with entertainment by the Band and Drill Team. The theme for this years homecoming dance was "The Dance of the Great Pumpkin." It was characterized with figures from "Peanuts" comic strip. An archway and a bright leafy path, welcomed each couple as they entered the dance. Pumpkins, hay stacks and orange and black crepe paper added to the decorations. Music was provided by the "Arlington Band." The dance was held in the East Cafeteria.

Princesses Tammie Jones and Jennifer Stubblefield were crowned and presented roses by Micheal Johnson and Mark Taylor. Attendants Tina Speer and Sue Lantz were presented roses by Keith Vose and Kevin Hullaby. Kay Cees dedicate only three days to Spirit Week Spirit Week was held only three days this year. The short week before students left for Thanksgiving vacation was used to promote school spirit. Students and faculty members could be seen parading through the hallways of WHS dressed as children on the first day of Spirit Week which was designated as Kiddie Day. Old grubby overalls were popular with Big Red spirit boosters on Grub day. Wednesday was a combined Red Day and 50's Day. This third day was by far the most popular as students bopped down the halls with greased-back hair and bobby socks. Faculty also supported this day getting into their penny loafers and leather jackets. Some students dressed in red for the Red/White game after school. "T.J. the D.J.", alias Mr. Rhone, serenaded over the intercom by playing requested tunes on his ukelele.

Rhone, joins in on the excitement by participating in the popular dance from the 50's called the Bunny Hop. Sub-zero temperatures cause gas shortage in Kansas

Due to this year's sub-zero temperatures and shortages of gas, all Kansas City, Kansas Public Schools, along with numerous others, were dismissed for one day after winter vacation. In a special bulletin broadcasted on TV and radio stations, the Gas Service Company asked homeowners and private business owners to lower thermostats to 55° because of a natural gas shortage caused by the freezing temperatures. Schools affected by this shortage switched to supplies of oil or other alternate fuel to warm the bitter-cold air. Although the biting cold temperatures kept many people shut inside for several days, some continued to fight the freeze and build snowmen, go sleigh riding or ambush unsuspecting friends with snowballs. Students at Wyandotte were not as lucky as others who were released from classes when schools in other parts of the nation were shut down for longer periods of time by the harsh winter weather.

Snow-covered forest sets mood for Christmas dance.

The 1976-77 Christmas Formal, sponsored by the Quiverian Staff on Dec. 4, was held much earlier this year to avoid a conflict with the basketball schedule. Because of the early date, the dance theme, "Crystal Memories" was centered around a winter atmosphere rather than a more traditional Christmas theme. As couples entered between the cafeterias they were greeted by a backdrop setting of a freshly snow-covered and glistening forest complete with flocked evergreen and a frozen pond. The East Cafeteria was decorated in blue and silver garland and candelabras to give the effect of a magnificent ice palace ballroom. The tables were lighted by shimmering blue candles which added to the peaceful winter atmosphere. The music for the Formal was presented by "Dyna-Flo" and ranged from slow moving dance steps to fast moving disco. As in the past, many couples left after the coronation ceremonies for dinner reservations.

'Crystal Memories' shine on Christmas royal couple

Glittering blue ornate frames backed with yards of silver foil to resemble large palace mirrors provided the backdrop as seniors John Vestal and Elenor Carrillo were named as the 1976-77 Christmas Formal King and Queen at the annual dance. Crowning the newly elected couple was last years King, Ricky Pierre. Last years Queen, Dorothy Jackson, was unable to attend because of her busy college schedule. Princes and Princesses reigning over the formal were Joe Gosserand, Joyce Fuller, Miguel Bolden and Sheila Jones. The Quiverian Staff selected senior men as King candidates and they in turn selected senior girls as their running mates. Preliminary voting took place the week before Thanksgiving between the cafeterias at lunch for a penny a vote. An all-school ballot was held to select the King and Queen from the five finalist couples the day before the dance in first hour.

Recording star Nancy Wilson entertains for Big Red

Singers, musicians and lecturers appeared on stage as an entertainment and relaxation period for Big Red. As a surprise to the students, Mr. Rhone introduced popular recording star Nancy Wilson as a special guest performer. Mr. Rhone has been acquainted with Nancy Wilson for fourteen years, and she had promised him that the next time she visited Kansas City she would make an appearance at Big Red. Nancy stated that she enjoyed performing for the students at no expense to Wyandotte. The traditional assemblies held throughout the year started when Sophomore Orientation was held to get all sophomore students familiar to Big Red. The movies "W" and "The Rievers" were shown to those having the admission fee of $1. Students who were in red or owned an activity ticket were excused from class to witness the famous Bulldog Spirit at pep assemblies which were requested by the Kay Cee officers or the cheerleaders.

Spirit promoters gather at Big Red's pep assemblies

Pep assemblies have been a well-known tradition at Wyandotte for several years. Cheerleaders and Kay Cees helped to promote Bulldog spirit at the assemblies by cheering and sometimes presented humorous skits about the teams. The Wyandotte Pep Band, under the direction of Mr. Lawrence Henry, play a fine selection of peppy songs that prepared not only the teams, but the many students who planned to attend that Friday night basketball or football game. Pep assemblies are given upon request by the coaches of the teams or the Kay Cee sponsor and officers. Usually held during sixth hour time, the attendance policies ranged from all-school, to those restricted to students wearing red, or a more limited group of activity ticket holders. Although Wyandotte spirit has always been traditional for the pep organization, the pep assemblies are designed to promote spirit in the rest of Big Red's student body and the athletic teams.

Vocal chords and instruments harmonize at Big Red

Many vocal and instrumental concerts were held this year for the entertainment of parents, teachers and students. This year there was an added attraction as A Capella Choir acquired new garnet-red robes with white and gold stoles. A new instrumental music teacher was also gained by Wyandotte. Mr. Lawrence Henry is the director of Marching Band, Pep Band, Orchestra and Lab Band. On December 16 the Vocal and Instrumental Departments held their annual Christmas concert at 7:30 p.m. for anyone who enjoyed holiday music. Christmas tunes were also played for the student body on December 17. On March 17 the Instrumental Music Department presented a spring concert displaying music learned for the upcoming state contest. March 24 brought a concert day for the Vocal Department when they rehearsed their music for state. Concluding the performance schedule for the groups were the informal "pop concerts" in late spring.

Drama season premieres with the 'Gingerbread Lady'

Acting talents combined with many extra hours of studying scripts and rehearsing after school paid off for Wyandotte's drama students when they presented their first production, Neil Simon's "Gingerbread Lady" on Nov. 22 and 23. The show, which was suggested for mature audiences, was based on a lady with a drinking problem, and her attempt to overcome it. Mary Valverde held the lead role of Evy with Brenda Syrus, Michael Johnson, Robert Olsen, Theresa Brunkow and Tom Learned taking the part of the supporting characters. Mr. Kevin Hoffman, in his fifth year at Wyandotte and his second year as head of the Drama Department, assisted in the presentation as the director and also in the selection of the cast. Due to small audiences at previous drama productions, the play was held in Recital Hall rather than the auditorium, however it was sold out to standing room only for both performances.

Neil Simon proves popular with Big Red dramatists

This years drama club, under the direction of Mr. Kevin Hoffman, presented its second play of the year in April, "Star Spangled Girl", written by Neil Simon. Lead characters were Robert Olsen, Tom Learned and Mary Valverde who played the parts of three people entwined in a love triangle. The play started out with a boy, Norman Cornell, played by Tom Learned, falling madly in love with Sophie Rauschmeyer, portrayed by Mary Valverde. As usual, Norman found Sophie's feelings for him were quite different. Andy Hobart, played by Robert Olsen, found the mixed feelings between Norman and Sophie ridiculous, and the action continued as the characters' relationships became more confused. This play by the well-known Broadway playwrite continued the trend of recent Neil Simon productions at Wyandotte including "The Gingerbread Lady," "Butterflies are Free" and "Last of the Red-Hot Lovers."

Blue skies, warm weather mark beginning of spring

As the school year came close to ending, students found themselves looking forward to the warmth of the spring season. Each day the grass got greener, the days got longer and the birds were singing joyful songs that said spring is near to the many WHS students anxiously awaiting the warm breezes and end of the year. Many students daydreamed out class windows while the seniors dreams became reality faced with final steps into another worled of either higher education or becoming a part of the working class of society. Before all this was about to happen, there were scores of preparations to make. Announcements were ordered, dues were paid and end of school activities were supported. The annual faculty and varsity basketball game was held along with all the other traditional spring sports. The Splash Club presented its annual swim show in April. Tryouts and elections were held to fill the honor positions.

Big Red receives year-round gifts from Uncle Willie

The face of Willard Bosler is as familiar a part of Wyandotte student life as the traditional Bulldog. Willard Bosler was a 1940 graduate of Big Red. During the years Bosler attended Wyandotte he did not participate in any activities, nor was he interested in athletics. Yet since 1970 he has become Big Red's "Number One Bulldog Fan," in spite of the fact that he has no children at Wyandotte. "Uncle Willie", as he is best known to most students, rarely misses any varsity athletic event, boys or girls, and often attends two in a day. As Santa Claus disguised in a Wyandotte jacket he has provided untold buttons for groups to sell or wear, T-shirts and uniforms for athletic teams and pep club honor positions, dinners or treats for different groups and transportation to out-of-town games for many. To honor him for his support, the Wrestling Team has named a tournament the "Willard Bosler Triple Dual".

The third floor auditorium of the Public Library was the scene of two meetings each month where various matters relating to the smooth operation of schools were dealt with. At the end of each meeting, individuals present at the meeting could ask questions or make comments about anything on the Board's agenda for that meeting. November marks month of National Guidance Week

Providing parents and students with an opportunity to meet with counselors from different schools was National Guidance Week. Wyandotte's counselors could be found at Indian Springs Shopping Center where a booth was set up where parents and students could stop by and talk with the counselors about various things. A senior orientation was held late in September where post high school plans were discussed. Different colleges, universities and trade schools were discussed along with military futures and even the possibility of a job right out of high school. Required tests for college such as the SAT and ACT kept counselors busy as students registered to take them and then returned later to pick up their test scores.

Big Red's personnel helps with direction of school

The personnel of Wyandotte played an important role throughout the '76-77 school year. The librarians held an orientation for this year's sophomores which introduced them to the many different offerings of the library. The librarians also helped the students by giving them information for various class assignments, book reports and other materials. The secretaries performed their general office duties which included printing the daily news bulletins and recording attendance. Mr. Thomas Rhone and the other administrators each had a secretary who made appointments and took care of business correspondence. Mrs. Gladys Ellis, counselors' secretary, organized all recordkeeping and business matters in that office.

New lunch style provides pupils with better choice

A new lunch menu was provided for Wyandotte's students this year. It was an A or B selection menu. The students were required to choose from one or the other and were offered extras for an additional price. The custodians had the task of keeping the building cleaned daily and seeing that all school property was in working condition and in its proper place. Mrs. Irene Hightower, the only woman custodian, had the responsibility of running Big Red's elevators and cleaning the girls' restrooms. Miss Helen Bert nursed pupils who became sick and controlled any medical emergencies that occured during the day. The nurse had a couple of senior students as aids that helped in any of the minor problems that arose daily.

Annual film unit becomes new treat for sophomores

Wyandotte's English Department's annual three-week film unit was divided into three parts this year. Three big movies were shown instead of several smaller movies like in the past. All English classes and some of the other language arts classes attended the films. Charly, Othello and Cat Ballou were the movies shown throughout the year. Letters to paragraphs helped students develop various skills in reading, writing and speaking. This course was especially designed for students who didn't plan to further their schooling. Sports literature was a popular course for males and females. Sports magazines and books were used along with textbooks which allowed each student to learn about different sports and various athletes of them.

WHS Language Arts Department continues to grow

Many new courses were added to the Language Arts Department for the '76-77 school year. Teenage fiction offered students the opportunity to read books about teenagers and their problems of today. Some of the books were written by teenagers. Short story was a new course which gave students the opportunity to read a variety of short stories. Having a good imagination was an asset to students in science fiction. Writing their own science fiction newspapers was a project assigned to them. All students were required to pass English II and one other English or Language Arts course. Each student was continuously enrolled in a course in the general Language Arts area. This included journalism, media, speech and drama.

Bible as literature students view Bibles at university

Wyandotte's new Bible as literature class traveled to Baker University in Baldwin, Kansas early in the school year. While there, the students saw such things as rare old Bibles and valuable old scrolls which belong to the university as a part of the Quayle Bible Collection. The style of writing in various books of the Bible was discussed in this class. Various kinds of Bibles were used for classroom study. Another popular new course with a large enrollment this year was love and loneliness. In this class students read poems, songs, novels and various other types of literature based on the two topics. Research paper class was designed to give students an opportunity to learn about the organization and writing of term papers.

Government funds provide new classes for students

The reading laboratory class was a new program this year. The course was basically a reading class that was designed to better the reading ability of the students. The members of the class were a selected group of students chosen by a set of test scores taken earlier. The students were then tested again in class to see what reading level they were qualified for. This gave the students the opportunity to come into their room and get the materials they needed to start class without the assistance of the teacher. The classes were equipped with head phones, cassette players and classroom projectors. The students were drilled in spelling and reading. Reading laboratory was another one of Wyandotte's courses that was government founded.

Big Red's media classes prove popular for students

The media division of the Language Arts Department offered an alternative course of study for Big Red students as they found that they could meet the continuous enrollment in Language Arts requirement through journalism, film, speech and drama classes. Introduction to publications presented the basics of school publications work and yearbook and newspaper courses trained potential staff members for Quiverian and Pantograph production. Mass media students analyzed the impact of radio, TV, film, etc. while film classes studied the technical side of that medium and actually wrote, filmed and edited their own productions. Drama and speech dealt with the performing side by emphasizing delivery, expression, use of logic, etc.

Foreign Language Department discontinues Russian

Russian was no longer offered to students at Wyandotte this year because of the unavailability of a Russian teacher. French, Spanish and German were the only languages offered to students. The number of foreign language teachers was reduced from five to four when WHS added Ms. Lee Duty and Mrs. Debbie Reed to its staff as replacements for the three faculty members who didn't return. Due to the lack of interest in German III, Ms. Duty's third hour class was a combination of German II and German III students. Trying to learn the languages fluently involved doing such things as determining which nouns are masculine and which are feminine, conjugating verbs and speaking a dialogue with another classmate.

Big Red Instrumental Department gains new teacher

Big Red's Instrumental Music Department was under the direction of a new teacher this year, Mr. Lawrence Henry. The Marching Band participated in parades held during the year. They also performed during halftime at home football games. Most of the vocal music classes performed at various concerts. Class hours were spent working up numbers for the next performance in addition to learning basic music theory. A number of Wyandotte's art students participated in a national art contest that was held in November with a variety of artwork in the fields of painting, drawing, printing and photography. Students in 3-D art had the opportunity to work with and learn about such crafts as ceramics, leather craft, sculpture and weaving.

Science Department gains three new staff members

To start the year off right, the Science Department was greeted with three new faculty members, Miss Jean Beaman, Mr. Lee Ludwig and Mrs. Marlys Whitley. Mrs. Whitley previously had taught in Big Red's Math Department. The Science Department offered courses to fit the most diversified of interests. Physic students dealt with the principles of matter, motion and electricity. Pupils who enrolled in physics usually did so with the intent of going on in fields of medicine, engineering or other jobs affiliated with this category. Biology I students investigated plants and animal life at a basic level. Chemistry classes gave students the opportunity to study the elements, compounds, etc. and to mix solutions and potions.

Greenhouse goes unnoticed by Wyandotte students

One of the many unique features of Wyandotte was the greenhouse which was located on the third floor connected to Room 343. The greenhouse has been here since the construction of the building, but has not been recognized by many Big Red students because of the way it was secluded from the other rooms. Hanging aspargus ferns, potted dracenas and numerous geraniums filled the hothouse with a lusicous look of greenery. Wyandotte was the only school in the district with an original greenhouse. Miss Beaman was responsible for the caring of the greenhouse. Students from each class helped her with the cleaning and watering of the plants. Miss Beaman was excited about the hothouse since this was her first time working with one.

Secretarial training class travels to local credit union

Early in the year, the secretarial training class took a field trip to the Public School Employees Credit Union. The girls viewed how a word-processing machine works. An employee of the credit union demonstrated the machine and then invited them to try it out. Secretarial services class performed services for teachers throughout the school such as typing, duplicating and delivering supplies. Typing, business machines and shorthand classes were among the introductory classes that prepared students for more advanced secretarial and clerical classes. Record keeping and accounting courses were available to all students who liked to work with numbers and were interested in becoming a bookkeeper or an accountant.

AVTS broadens course offerings with CIT and DE

Cooperative Industrial Training and Distributive Education are two new AVTS courses that were offered at Wyandotte to seniors for the first time this year. Students attended their CIT or DE classes for two hours everyday and then received two hours of on-the-job experience. All students were required to have a job, or at least the promise of a job, to participate in this program. CIT was designed to give students experience in the industrial technical occupation of their choice such as nursing, welding or auto mechanics. Students involved in the DE program received experience in the fields of merchandising, marketing and management. The main idea of the new program is that DE sells what CIT makes.

Big Red welcomes two staff members to Math Dept.

1976-1977 saw no curriculum changes in the Big Red Mathematics Department with all course offerings remaining the same as the previous year. However the major change that did occur was in the staffing with two new instructors, Miss Carol Haack from Buffalo, New York and Mr. George Yadrich, a hometown KCK product and Ward High graduate. Miss Haack spent most of her day with math in action dealing with basic processes such as multiplication and division of decimals while Mr. Yadrich dealt more with algebraic courses and their units on rational and irrational numbers as solution sets for equations. Geometry classes were filled with thoughts of memorizing theorems and postulates in relationship to lines, angles and planes.

Desk top calculators provide aid to Math Department

The new staff members were not the only new changes made in Wyandotte's Math Department. Welcome additions were new desk calculators that were received this year. Students no longer saw the scribbling of math problems on desks or found themselves counting with their fingers. The new calculators were partially beneficial to enrollees in the math analysis classes who were concerned with working with the real number system, vectors, analytic geometry and trigonometry, as well as the more common addition and subtraction problems in the fundamentals of math classes. Every student is required to have one unit of math for graduation. A proficiency exam is given ninth grade year to determine what math course is right.

Social Studies goes beyond history and government

In the field of Social Studies there was much more than just history and government classes. Courses were offered in the study of human behavior. Sociology provided students with a chance to study people and problems in their own society. It involved work such as doing case studies about different problems students face today. Psychology and human relations dealt with the study of how people react to one another. Students in ethnic studies learned about Afro-Americans, Mexican-Americans, Asian-Americans, American Indians and their cultures. The class was designed to analyze the different lifestyles of various groups of people and thus enable Wyandotte students to appreciate their own heritage.

Government classes focus on presidential elections

Because this year was an election year, the study of presidential elections and political parties was a major part of WHS government classes. Topics such as voting trends of religious and ethnic groups came alive as students observed the election first hand. The televised presidential debates also provided a look at campaign tactics for students enrolled in the required American Government classes. Elective courses in the department offered a look at more specific issues in government. Case studies involving constitutional issues and the principles outlined in the Bill of Rights were analyzed in a new course, liberty under law, while state and local government focused on the Kansas City, Ks. city commission type of government.

Students learn about Africa by cooking African food

The aroma of food filled the room as African History classes found a special way to study the culture of the African people. Besides learning about Africa from a textbook and listening to a teacher, students had the chance to prepare and eat different foods from the countries. The traditional American History classes went through another change this year. The idea of splitting the course into two semesters did not prove as successful as originally thought, so it was returned to a full year program. In their history classes, students learned about the development of America from its colonial days to the present time. History was a required Social Studies course for graduation and was only offered to juniors and seniors.

Under the direction of a new teacher, Mr. Harry Edelman, the vocational auto mechanics class was run somewhat like a small business would be run. The class worked on and repaired cars for individuals if the owner of the car paid for any new parts that were used. Learning about different types of engines such as the diesel, gasoline and jet was the purpose of power classes, which were an introduction to auto mechanics. The printing class produced programs, announcements, stationery, etc., as well as the spring and fall sports brochures. Materials and processes classes prepared students for more advanced classes in metals, plastics and woodworking. Industrial Education courses were popular with both male and female students.

Balls of yarn, thread, knitting needles fill WHS halls

A first this year at Wyandotte was Needlecraft I class. The semester course consisted of senior students who were introduced to the basics of embroidery, needlepoint, crochet, knitting and patchwork. Students were surprised to see girls walking the halls with skeins of yarn and knitting needles. The students were required to make a project in each of the fields to obtain a grade. Clothing I classes were taught the different styles of clothing construction and design principles. Students investigated the price of ready-made clothes compared to the more econimical home-made clothing. Basic food pupils learned essential principles and methods in simple cooking preparations, while Foods I examined nutrients and the economics of cooking.

Co-ed gym classes remain successful at Big Red

The old traditional all boys and all girls gym classes were done away with last year, and so it was not a surprise to see boys and girls participate in the same gym activities. Bouncing balls and thrilling screams were sounds that could be heard by the students as they passed by the gym classes throughout the year. The boys found that girls were as tough to compete with as they were, yet when it came to the dance class, very few males could be found participating. Gym classes dealt with a wide variety of activities such as track, swimming and weight training. The students in gymnastic classes worked with different pieces of equipment such as parallel bars, buck and horse. Selected seniors were given the job of gym leaders.

State funds provide for new Learning Center at WHS

Room 329 was transformed into a Learning Center this year through the help of state funds. All high schools in the district were required to develop such programs. The center was designed to help students better skills in specific areas in which they may have a weakness. The Learning Center staff of three spent however many hours a day as was necessary to assist each student in his problem area. The development of this new program complemented the efforts of the Work Study Program to offer help to the individuals. Work Study aids selected students in preparing them for life. The program teaches them at their own rate with emphasis on practical skills such as budgeting and on the job training.

Area Vocational Technical School offers various options to students at Big Red. This program is designed to provide practical trade skills for its enrollees who are not planning on going on to college. An example is the building trades class which helped to remodel the Kroger store at 31st and State so that the cosmetology classes could move in. Students that participated in AVTS classes attended Wyandotte for only one or three hours a day, depending on what program they were taking. Another option was available for Wyandotte students who wanted to get a head start in their college careers. They could enroll at Kansas City, Kansas Community Junior College or Donelly College as a part of dual enrollment.

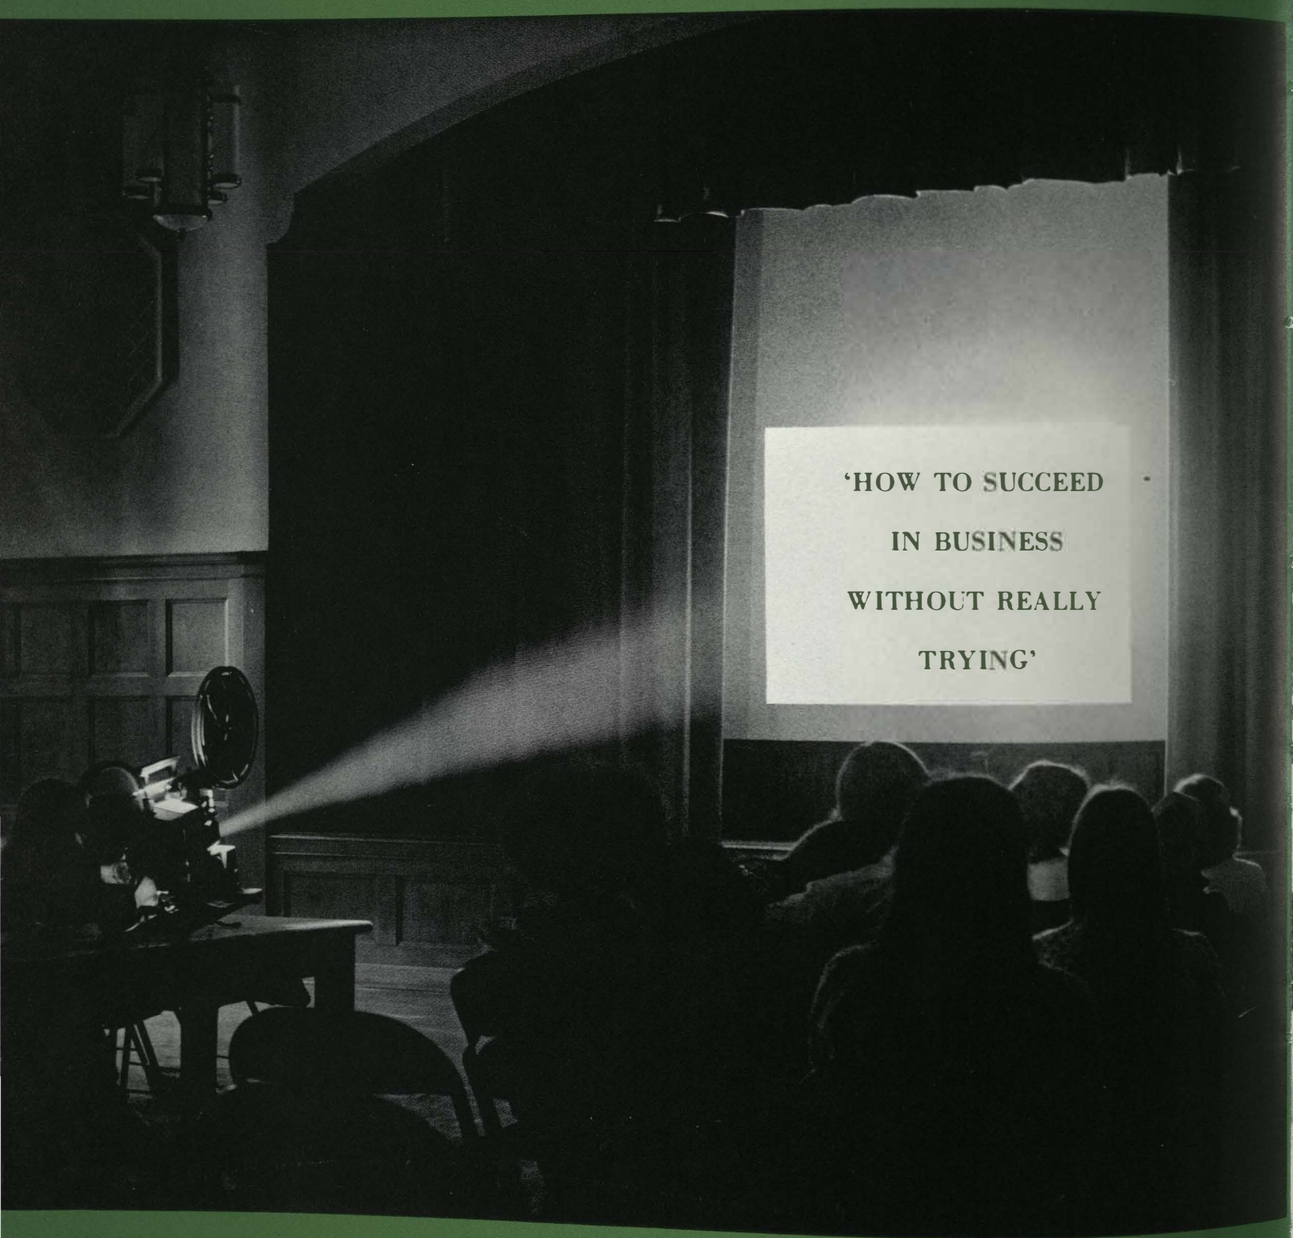
Act 3: Organizations



Stuco elects executive board of equal representation

Student Council this year elected an executive board consisting of 12 members; four sophomores, four juniors and four seniors, to make each class evenly represented. At the beginning of the year they sold buttons as one of their many money-making projects. Some members attended a Stuco workshop at Emporia, Kansas last summer where they learned how to deal with problems within the school. All members had to earn at least 50 points every month to keep their honorary position on Student Council. The members earned points by selling candy and cards with other clubs, working at the concession stand at all the home football games and attending all the athletic events held at Big Red and away. Heading the organization was Mr. Robert Tichenor.

Boosters fill stands and halls with enthusiastic chants

Supporting all athletic groups and clubs was the largest organization at Wyandotte, the pep club, known as the Kay Cees. The name has been used since 1927 when the group was named for the original school, Kansas City, Kansas High School. One of the ways members earned points to tryout for honor positions was to paint signs for Social Hall. The officers organized all the pep rallies, pep assemblies and Homecoming activities. In the fall the officers attended a clinic at SM East given by the Dynamic Cheerleading Association to learn different techniques in organizing pep clubs. The sponsor of the group of approximately 300 Big Red boosters was Mr. Stan Jasinskas, assisted by Miss Nancy Foster for the second year.

Summer camp recognizes cheerleading enthusiasm

Wyandotte's JV and Varsity Cheerleaders kept busy this summer preparing for camp and the oncoming year. Practice was held twice a week which consisted of learning cheers as well as perfecting them. Camp was held in Springfield, Mo., and was sponsored by National Cheerleading Association. While attending, both squads learned many new cheers and chants which they brought back to WHS. During competition the JV and Varsity squads received a total of nine ribbons, a super squad certificate and the Spirit Stick. This stick is given only to a few select squads that show the most enthusiasm, pep and energy. As money-making projects the girls sold Bulldog pins and worked on a brochure for former WHS coach Walt Sublom.

Bannerline, Drill Team represent WHS in parades

The Wyandotte Bannerline and Drill Team were known for their precision marching, high kicks and routines of every style. The girls represented WHS in three different parades, Festival of Progress, American Royal and Raytown. They also performed with the Marching Band for Band Night at Washington and at JuCo with the Pep Band for a Blue Devil basketball game. Sponsoring the group of 28 Drill Team and Bannerline members was Mrs. Karen Adam. The Bannerline was privileged to receive 52 ribbons and one super squad ribbon from the national Cheerleading Association Spirit Clinic they attended in mid-summer at Baker University in Baldwin, Kansas. The Drill Team was once again restricted to all juniors and seniors.

Bright red megaphones in the hands of the 1976-77 Yell Leaders was an added attraction to boost Wyandotte's spirit. To be selected, the interested individuals signed up and were approved by faculty members for the position. For the second year under the direction of Miss Nancy Foster, the members performed a variety of pyramids, stunts and tumbling. They also assisted the Varsity Cheerleaders with many lifts and double stunts in cheers. An added touch of glamour was chosen by the Wrestlerettes of 1976-77. In addition to getting new uniforms, the girls wore hats to match. Again this year, Mrs. Carol Ochs sponsored the organization, assisted by Miss Deb Medlin. Being the only group of Wrestlerettes in the KCK league area, the group added much spirit, enthusiasm and excitement to wrestling matches.

After a year's vacation, Big Red's majorette, Denise Stroup, took her place among the other honor positions. She twirled and danced before parades and halftime audiences. Hours of hard work at school as well as at home made up her routines. Along with the majorette, Claudia Stark, Wyandotte's mascot, performed for the crowd as she did such stunts as backflips, frontovers and cartwheels throughout games. Any student who lettered Varsity in any sport could become a member of the Varsity Club. The first Wednesday of every month at 6 p.m. in the boys gymnasium was meeting night. Mr. Rich Howe sponsored the club consisting of football, basketball, track and all other athletics. The six officers planned meetings and initiation.

Quiverian Staff decorates large room with cozy effect

At the beginning of the year, the 1976-77 Quiverian staff worked together to break in a new and larger room. The staffers found the real way a yearbook was made, with long hours filled during and after school with hard work dedicated to the student body and meeting deadlines. Throughout the year staff members sold cinnamon suckers, candy sticks and pennants to pay off the many extras that made the yearbook a very special one. Re-writing copy, designing layouts, taking pictures, cropping pictures and making perfect paste-ups were a few examples of the many jobs each section editor and photographer had to do. The group also took on the responsibility for the Christmas Formal dance again. Miss Deb Medlin was advisor of the Quiverian staff.

The Pantograph staff for the 1976-77 year was successful in publishing seventeen editions of the school paper with Colleen McClellan as editor and under the direction of Ms. Roberta Ewing. Coming to Wyandotte for the first year, Ms. Ewing received her B.S. and M.A. degrees from Kansas State University at Manhattan, where she worked as a reporter for the Manhattan Mercury newspaper also. The staff worked to cover all major happenings in the surroundings of WHS by publishing several issues over the usual size of four pages. The biggest money-making project was selling donuts each day before school. Other projects consisted of selling advertising, carnations at Christmas and roses on Valentine's Day.

New clubs, new sponsors, broaden WHS activities

The selling of quarter candy bars was a big money making project for the members of the Future Business Leaders of America. Under the supervision of Miss Phyllis Jones, the club took several outings together including a formal dinner. For the first year, a new club was added to WHS organizations in the Home Economics Department. With Mrs. Stella Fenn assisting and sponsoring, the Home Ec Club was started. The club reviewed and discussed many projects and materials concerning Home Economics. Mrs. Harry Edelman was the Vocational Industrial Careers of America club sponsor for the first year. But with the changing of a new sponsor, came the changing of the club name. Since the club didn't concentrate on industrial careers, the name was changed back to Auto Mechanics Club. Throughout the year, the members tore apart and reassembled cars, as well as washed dirty ones.

Music Dept. adds new group; Pep Band changes style

In addition to having a new musical director, WHS added a new instrumental group to the Music Department. Under the direction of Mr. Lawrence Henry was the new Jazz Ensemble. The group consisted of seven male members who were guest performers for a few select concerts. They also participated in several musical affairs at Donnelly College, Kansas City Kansas Community Jr. College, and the Wichita Jazz Festival. The 1977 Pep Band, consisting of eighteen members, provided an assortment of musical entertainment for special events, pep rallies, home basketball games and between the cafeterias for some 50's rock 'n roll during Spirit Week. The band added a little more glamour to their uniforms this year. Besides the red t-shirts, red and white Wyandotte caps were worn. For the first year Anthony Bagby, junior, was the student director for the players.

New director changes style of halftime performance

The 1976-77 Big Red Marching Band went through a series of changes this year in style and format as they were under the direction of a new instructor, Mr. Lawrence Henry in his first year at Wyandotte. Mr. Henry received a Bachelor of Music Education and a Masters of Music Education in Performance at Northern Michigan University. The band performed at halftime for all the home football games at WHS with many new ideas added to the formations on the field. Marching Band attended several parades throughout the year, including a few big crowd drawers known as "Parade of Progress", "American Royal" and "Raytown Parade". As in the past, they joined with other district schools to compete in the annual Band Night at Washington High School.

Orchestra displays its talent on numerous occasions

Wyandotte's Orchestra displayed its talent for many faculty, students, parents and friends by holding concerts during each season throughout the school year. The 1976-77 Orchestra was under the direction of a new conductor, Mr. Larry Henry who made numerous alterations in the instrumental Music Department such as class room conduct, the style of music they played, the dress and in the teachings of theory. The group of strings, brass and percussion performed at the annual State Music Festival held at Shawnee Mission East during late winter. Money-making projects provided funds for new sheet music, all types of musical equipment and traveling expenses. They performed at many different school events, three of which were season concerts. The others were Christmas Vespers and State Music Festival. Four students with exceptional musical abilities were chosen to perform in a string quartet.

60 stunning garnet-red robes add class to A Cappella

After 14 years of wear and tear, the A Cappella choir acquired 60 new garnet red robes and reversible gold and white stoles. The group and many other concerned students worked hard selling tee-shirts, candy, iron-on patches, cards and choral concert tickets to earn the money for their half of the bill. The other half of the cost was funded by the Board of Education. They received the robes in mid-year, just in time for the State Music Festival. The choir performed in the traditional Vespers concert along with the Orchestra. They also sang the National Anthem at a Kings game and put on performances in the Indian Springs Shopping Center, Grandview Methodist Church and many other places outside and within the school. A Cappella was a selected group of male and female vocalists who privately auditioned in front of Mr. Tony Davis, choral director, before class enrollment last spring.

WHS vocal lab acquires new name and new look

Two WHS choral ensembles kept Wyandotte's name before the public as they presented various types of song and dance at many outside events. The Vocal Lab class adopted the formal name Wyandotte Singers during the first week of school. A new look went along with the name as the girls wore matching blue, tan and peach dresses while the guys wore three piece tan and blue suits to form a more co-ordinated look. The group performed at several churches during the fall season. They entertained three Junior High School choral music groups who came to Wyandotte to be introduced to the music department. They sang at State Music Festival, Vesper, Indian Springs and several other concerts held during the school year. Girls Chorus performed along with Vocal Lab at most of the concerts. The Girls Chorus wore matching long red dresses at all their performances. Both groups participated in several money-making projects.

WHS Mixed chorus II adopts more becoming title

The title Mixed Chorus II was altered this year by the choral director, Mr. Tony Davis, to a more attractive one of Concert Choir. The Concert Choir and Mixed Chorus I took part in many of the fund raising projects to help purchase choir robes and music for the entire vocal department which the department's small budget could not finance. The candy, poster and stationery sales also provided money for the busses used for transportation to and from State Music Festival and many other outside events. The two choruses were combined for the traditional Christmas Vespers on two selections and all four selections for the Winter Choral Concert held the preceding night. Both groups presented all types of music ranging from jazz and pop to spiritual and classical. Mr. Davis, who is a graduate of University of Arkansas, is now working towards his doctorate in vocal music at UMKC Conservatory of Music.

Traveling on field trips is big part of active clubs

After a rest, the Humanities Club was reorganized for the 1976-77 school year. The club, guided by Mr. James Griffin, concentrated on activities that would culturally educate the students. The club had many money-making projects to raise funds to attend field trips, such as several musical appearances including the philharmonic and the opera. The club ran the book mobile as one of its major projects. International Relations, under the direction of Miss Jean Curl, was a traveling club as they went to model government sessions including Model United Nations Security Council and General Assembly and a Model United States Senate session. The club also studied the United States domestic and foreign relations with other countries. How foreign diplomacy works, political strategies, lobby pressure, parliamentary procedure, etc. were among the topics the members studied, discussed and applied in their travels.

Wyandotte again hosted the biggest tournament in the area for first year debators with 24 schools attending. The debators are sponsored for the second year by Ms. Marilyn Senter. Throughout the year, the group sold supplies to make money for tournaments and parties. In the spring, forensics took over with students participating in 12 different competitive speech events ranging from oral interpretation and poetry, to extemporaneous speaking and duet acting. Though debate is much work, there is time for fun too, as experienced by the members at a spring picnic and Christmas party during the festive holiday.

Language Clubs acquire insight on foreign countries

The foreign language clubs took advantage of activity periods to plan out trips and parties to better their knowledge of their countries. They had several candy sales to provide funds for the clubs to use for movies and dinners they attended. The German Club went to a restaurant to try the many types of German dishes. Ms. Lee Duty, sponsor, planned a German candy sale for the spring. The Spanish Club sponsored by Ms. Dana Schroeder, also went to a foreign restaurant. The Spanish Club members attended a flamenco dance at Southwest High School in Kansas City, Mo. They held a Mexican fiesta at Christmas where they sang Christmas carols and broke the traditional pinata filled with all sorts of candy. Mrs. Deborah Reed, French Club sponsor, made Buche de Noel, a French cake, for her students. They held a Christmas party in the East Cafeteria where they sang and played French Christmas music.

Clubs offer involvement for library aides, A-V workers

For the 1976-77 year, a new club was added to organizations, the Library Club. The club planned unique activities during the year such as experimenting with storytelling and book research. Tours of libraries, museums and other historical spots were taken around the Kansas City area also. The members participated in planning holiday parties including an end of the year picnic. Reading projects were worked on during the school year for the enjoyment of the members. All these activities were under the supervision of Mrs. Lucy Ashley, sponsor. Another club was added to Wyandotte's organizations. The Audio Visual Club was started and sponsored by Mr. Charles Burgess. The club members delivered audio visual equipment to teachers and assisted with its maintenance. With only two members, the boys had an opportunity to have individual attention.

Topic of newspapers drew crowds from near and far

Sports, editorials, weather, want ads and other sections were the center of attraction at the '77 Splash Club Show. The show was based on the different parts of a newspaper with a popular tune for each. The programs resembled newspapers and the tickets were press passes. This year was the first time the club was not divided into the two groups of Sharks and Minnows. Every swimmer tended to have the same qualities required, so the need to seperate the individuals was unnecessary. The synchronized swimmers went back to an old tradition of wearing T-shirts showing their membership in the club. For the third year the club was under the direction of Miss Nancy Foster. Assistant sponsorship was offered by Miss Lee Duty.

Batdogs strike and swing at 1975-76 baseball season

1975-76 was a rebuilding season for the Batdogs, with only three returning lettermen. John Nicasico, Keith Vose and Kevin Schlitch provided experience to scoop up two victories in a 2-14 record. The first win was recorded against Turner, 7-4 in the first game of a double-header with Brad Mason as winning pitcher. The second victory was against SM North, 3-2 with David Howard pitching. In the first game of Regional Playoffs the Batdogs lost to Ward 3-0, however an outstanding performance was put in by pitcher Fernando Hernadez with seventeen strikeouts. Batdogs were led by Mr. George Young with eight consecutive years as head coach and Mr. Craig Lown, assistant head coach. Lown formerly pitched for the Chicago White Sox.

Cinderdogs snatch third KCK League Championship

The 1975-76 Cinderdogs captured an unprecedented third KCKL title. The going was not as easy in the State Indoor Championship, where the team finished second. Willie Fowler captured an individual title by winning the open 440 dash, and the mile relay team also grabbed first. New school records now belong to Jared Finley and Willie Major. Finley, who heaved the discus 181'7", was a top state competitor. Major skimmed the 180 yd. low hurdles in 19.1 sec. The Bulldogs placed fourth in Outdoor State Competition, when second place finishes were as high as the tracksters could climb. Major ran second in the low and high hurdles and Finley threw for second in the discus. The 800 yd. relay team also placed second.

Cinderwomen snatch new records in State Outdoor

New school records were achieved by the female Trackdogs at the 1975-76 State Outdoor held in Wichita. Cheryl Doss had a time of 11.0 in the 100 yard dash to hold a new record while Peggy Hopkins threw the softball 210 feet and nine inches to break the school record in that event. Wyandotte's 880 and 440 relay teams had good times of 1:47.5 and 51.5 for the season and locked in on a spot in the top three in almost every meet. The Cinderdogs felt their first taste of victory when they defeated SMN in a dual meet. Later in the season the team finished second in the KCKL meet just behind Schlagle. Wyandotte participated in nine meets with a total of 25 girls on the team.

Golfdogs achieve second at Wyandotte Invitationals

Lacking experienced players for the 1975-76 season, the Golfdogs demonstrated a limited capability, struggling through seven meets. However, they did place second in their own Wyandotte Invitational held at the Victory Hills Golf course where the team practiced once a week. Leading the Bulldogs was Mr. Bill Fenton who has been the head coach for four consecutive years. Coach Fenton stated "The golf program at Wyandotte will experience a dramatic upswing once the new public golf course opens. Until that time we'll just keep hitting balls on the ball diamond at City Park." The '76 Golfdogs had the largest team turnout of WHS history with returning letterman R. Wright, A. Lebar, M. Michalski and K. Smith.

Young Racketdogs experience victory late in season

The 1976 season for the Boys Tennis Team was a disappointing one. Most of the boys on the team were sophomores and juniors or had not played tennis until last season. In a match with Savior of the World, the Bulldogs managed a victory by the score of 6-2 with the help of returning lettermen Steve Vallejo and Nick Stankewsky. Vallejo had a season record of four wins and five defeats. Other returning lettermen were Mike Elrod and Elgin Hullaby. The Netdogs had a final record of one victory and six defeats. Fourteen boys went out for the team and it was coached by Ashley Elbl. Coach Elbl helped out the young team with practices after school everyday and on weekends whenever possible.

Varsity letterwomen gain strength in homestretch

Wyandotte's Girls Tennis Team had a slow start at the beginning of the season, but came on strong at the finish. Leading the pack was Regina Martley with an overall record of six wins and four losses. Pam and Pat Peacher also led the netters with identical records of three wins and four defeats. The Bulldogs squeezed by Ward for a victory at the finish of the season. Other victories were over St. Mary's and Immaculata. The Bulldogs finished the season with a record of three victories and seven defeats. Loretta Peeler, Elenor Carrillo, Rosemary Smith and Connie Davidson, all letterwomen, contributed to the victories. Loretta Peeler was the only junior that received a letter this year on the tennis squad.

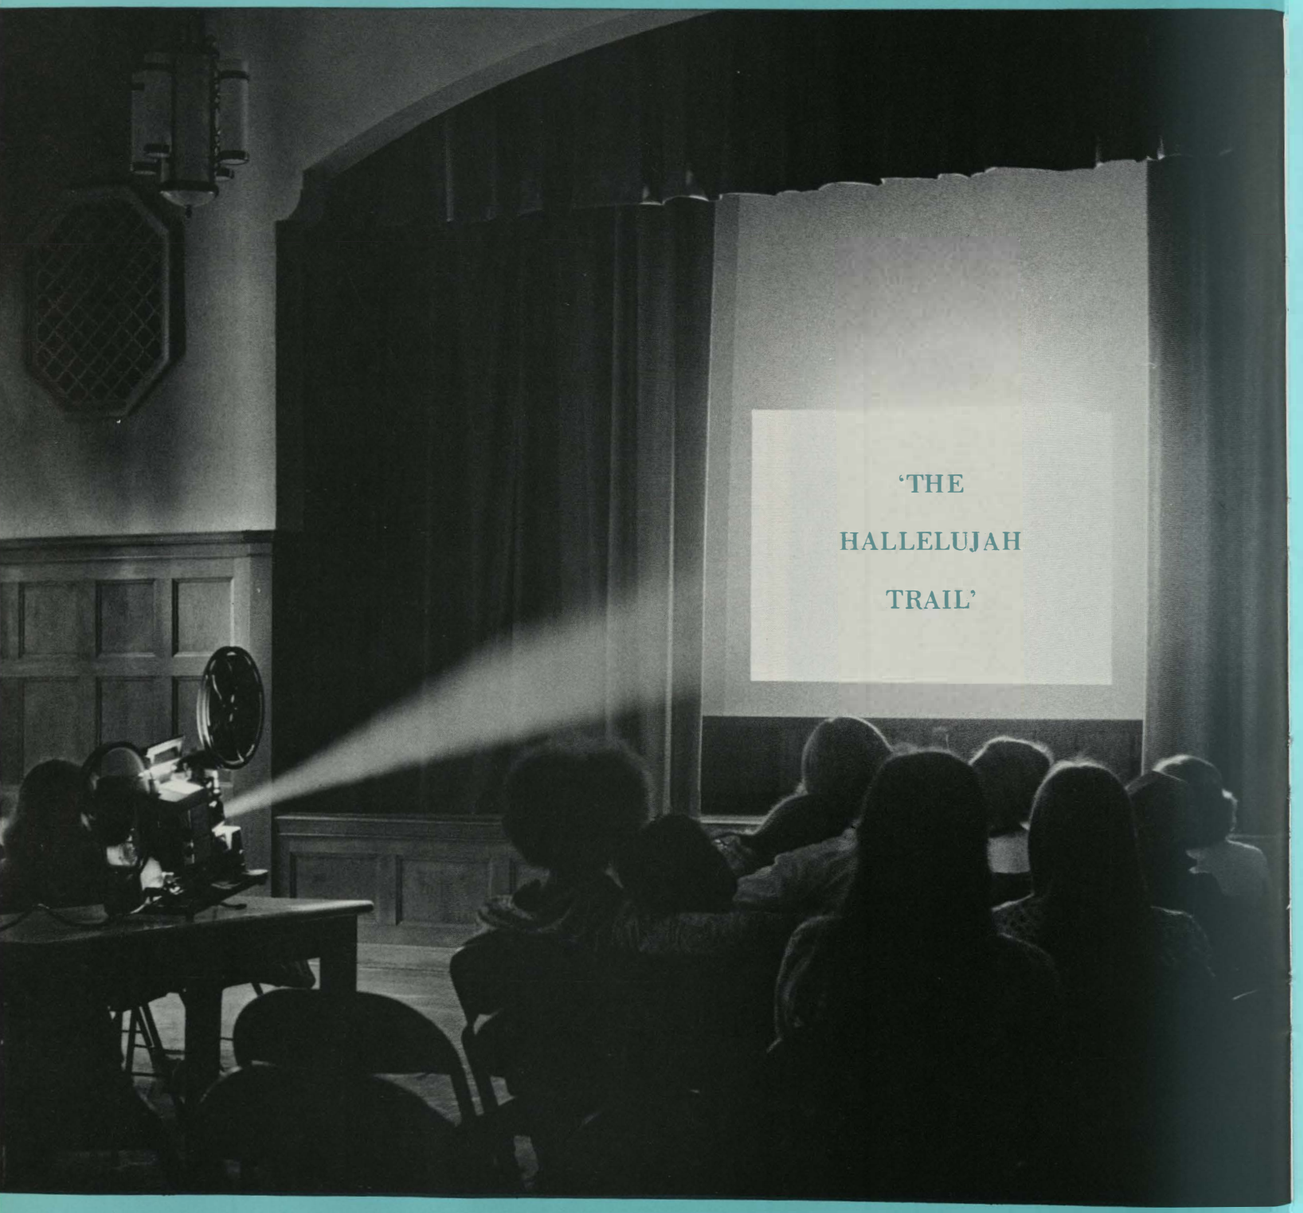
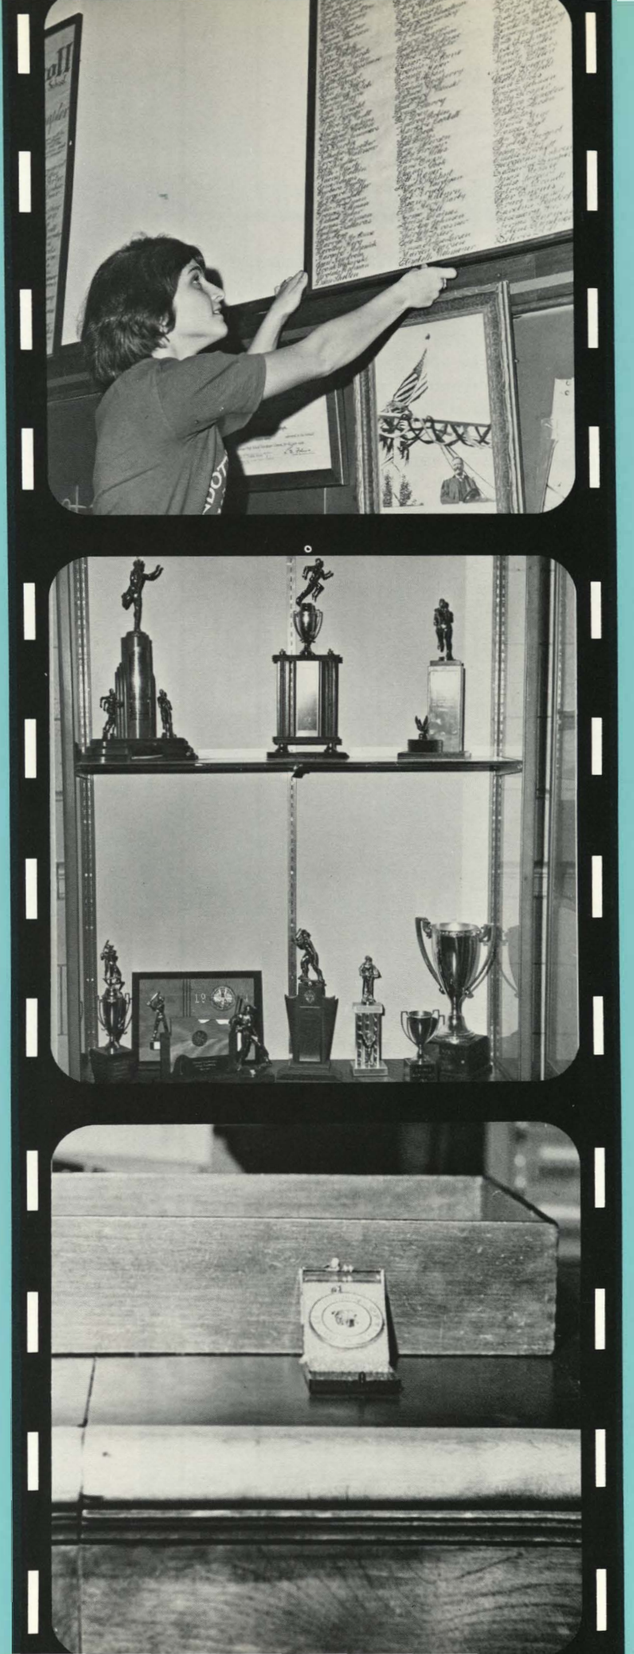
Act 5: Honors





Americans Abroad student enjoys a new way of life

Finland was the summer home of Michele Budelovich, this year's Americans Abroad student. While in Finland, Michele lived with the Tahkokallio family. Although Michele had three brothers and three sisters, only Tania, 19, lived at home. Her host parents spoke only Finnish and German, so Michele used sign language to communicate with them. Tania and Taru Pusa, Michele's close friend that she made in Finland, both spoke fluent English and Tania also spoke German. Michele's other brothers and sisters all spoke fluent English. The farm that Michele lived on included over 100 acres of forest. The nearest neighbor was one half mile away and the village was three and a half miles away. Besides visiting Finland, she also went on a camping trip with her family into Norway, Sweden, along the coast of the U.S.S.R. and the Arctic Ocean. Michele left the United States on June 20, 1976 for Pertelli, Finland.

(2) Besides attending classes at WHS, Michele is dual-enrolled at JuCo. (3) Michele brought back many souvenirs from Finland and gifts for friends. The glass plate is a gift to her mother. The dark lines on the map outline the camping trip Michele went on with her host family. (4) Michele took many pictures of the beautiful Finland scenery such as the sun shining at midnight. (5) Many nights before retiring, Michele wrote letters to her family. (6) The farm of the Tahkokallio family.

Big Red students excel in athletics and academics

Academic and athletic awards numbered many as several Wyandotte students excelled in these two areas this year. Besides capturing third place in the State wrestling competition, Donald Hicks also made All-State Defensive End and Fullback, All-Metro Defensive End and the Topeka Eleven. Chosen by the KCKL All-Conference team coaches for their ability and performance on the field were Donald Hicks, Millage Gilbert, Marvin Mitchell, Lethal Dunlap, Delbert Kimbrough and Andre Allen. The Kansas Honor Program, which is sponsored by the University of Kansas, honored seniors from area schools in two programs which were held at the Holiday Inn Towers. To be selected, seniors had to be in the top ten percent of their class. Michele Budelovich was honored at a luncheon by the Daughters of American Revolution where she received their annual good citizenship award in February.

Panto shares first-place trophy in write-off competition

Students of Big Red's newspaper staff tied with Washington this year for first place in the newspaper division at the second District-wide Journalism Write-off Competition. Wyandotte and Washington both shared the award of the traveling newspaper trophy. In yearbook competition, Wyandotte's yearbook staff took second place for layout category. Newspaper competition consisted of news writing, editorials, features, sports writing, headlines and make-up. Yearbook consisted of news copy, headlines, ad layout, layout, captions and mood copy. The formal candle-lighting initiation for Quill and Scroll candidates was held May 4 in the Recital Hall. To qualify for this International Honorary Society for High School Journalists, candidates must meet qualifications set forth by the national office and be recommended by their advisor. Students must be in the top third of their class and have done superior work on a publication.

Members earn degrees in National Forensic League

The Wyandotte Chapter of the National Forensics League, the honorary society for high schools students involved in speech and debate, increased its membership with 12 new members this year. The silver membership key may contain different jewels to symbolize degrees of achievement. Members achieve degrees by the number of points they earn through participation and ranking in debate and forensics tournaments. There were four members of distinction (rubies) with 250 points, four members of excellence (sapphires) with 150 points and five members of merits (emeralds) with 25 points. Then members from last year increased their degrees this year, some as many as two steps. International Thespian Society, the honor club for drama, had 16 members this year who earned membership by accummulating points for on or off stage parts in plays, and for attendance at other junior and senior high school productions.

Big Red students, faculty gain positions on state level

Miss Jean Curl, chairperson of Wyandotte's Social Studies Department and history teacher, was named Master Teacher by KCK-National Education Association, and thus competed in the state Master Teacher Awards sponsored by Emporia Kansas State College in cooperation with the Kansas National Education Association which were announced in April. Approximately 90 teachers were named by local school districts to be considered for the awards. Candidates and committees who worked with them prepared notebooks which contained letters of recommendation from students, parents, administrators and the general public who were acquainted with the teacher's work and ability. Once again this year, Big Red's female students were participants in teen pageants. Seniors, Marcia Standifer and Jean Haganey were finalists in the 1977 Miss Kansas National Teen-Ager Pageant held April 16, 1977 in Salina, Kansas.

Wyandotte students participate in state competitions

Big Red students display their achievements in all areas of fine arts. Six of Wyandotte's music students participated in this year's All-State Choir and Orchestra competition. Choir participants, Danny Miller, Irene Jones, Mike Ingram and David Daniels, were first chosen to attend District Competition and then auditioned for the state competition. Orchestra participants, Robert Olsen and Mark Snopak, were also chosen for district and state competition. Duncan Wilson and Loretta Peller won awards by the National Guidance Week Poster Contest for their entries. Wilson received an award of merit certificate and a $15 cash prize. Loretta whose poster won third place in the national judging on the high school level and will be on display in Dallas Texas, received a $25 bond. Kim Nuesson, David Naummens and Wayne Landrum were the winners of the 1976-1977 National Scholastic Art Awards.

Wyandotte students receive awards and scholarships

Gwen also received a $300 scholarship from the Beta Omega and Mu Omega chapters of Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority. She was given the scholarship at the annual Alpha Kappa Alpha Debutante Ball, held November 20, 1976 at the Crown Center Hotel. The General Mills Search for Leadership in Family Living test was given in December to selected seniors. By ranking the highest on the test from Wyandotte, Mary Marquez became the General Mills Family Leader of Tomorrow. Darrell Polk won third place in the Kansas City, Kansas Bicentennial writing contest. The contest subject was about changes that could be seen in the coming 100 years in various aspects of our culture.

National Honor Society candidates receive gold pins

Initiation to the National Honor Society climaxed the closing of the school year for many juniors and seniors of Wyandotte. Candidates for the NHS were considered and selected on the basis of their abilities in the field of academics, scholastics and leadership. Candidacy was also based on recommendations by faculty members and the student's character. To be an eligible candidate, students must rank scholastically in the upper third of their class. The NHS was first established in 1921 and has grown steadily since. The society emblem is a gold pin representing the keystone of progress and inscribed at the base of the pin are the first letters of the four essential qualities—character, service, leadership and scholarship. After Big Red's students received a formal invitation for membership, they were then initiated and awarded a gold pin at the traditional ceremony which was held in May.

Act 6: Student Body

After having petitions signed and teacher recommendations filled out, eighteen members of the sophomore class were chosen to be on the Sophomore Class Board. Mr. Ron Bales assumed the sponsoring responsibilities of the Board succeeding Miss Diane Carr and Mrs. Marjorie Sallee, who, according to tradition, continued with the Class of '78. During the course of the year, several board meetings were held, but no money-making projects were planned. Each year's Board's purpose is to raise as much money as possible to finance their senior prom and lower the amount of that class' senior dues. These dues pay for cap and gown rental and senior breakfast expenses. Any money which is left over is spent on a senior gift that is left for the school in the name of that class. Last year's Sophomore Board held money-making projects such as a car wash and candy bar sale to raise their class treasury's funds over $200.

(2)Nancy Farabee, and Norma Moran, Sophomore Board members, remind each other about that night's meeting. (3)Sandra Roark voices her opinion to Ruthie and Stephanie Jones, Board members, about a potential project. The board is responsible to help raise money for their coming senior year. (4)Mr. Ron Bales, Sophomore Board sponsor, begins his first year of working with the Class of '79. This was also his first year teaching at Wyandotte. (5)Vychelle Collins and Robin Quijas congratulate each other on being selected for board positions. Mr. Ron Bales selected board members by teacher recommendation and grade point averages.

With graduation for the Class of 78' only a year away the Junior Board worked diligently to raise money to cut the cost of their senior dues. Many long tiring hours were spent working out details for the first mixer of the year held after the Wyandotte/Harmon football game in the Girls Gymnasium. Music echoed throughout the gym as students chose their favorite songs to play on a school record player. Many variations of the "Hustle" and "Body Language" could be seen throughout the night. Ice scrapers were sold as a first project, and could be purchased for one dollar from any of the Junior Board members. These provided clean windshields for those who drive to school, not expecting a snow storm during class time. Styrofoam bulletin boards were also sold by the Junior Board for three dollars. Many characters were available including frogs and butterflies. All money raised will be saved for senior expenses.

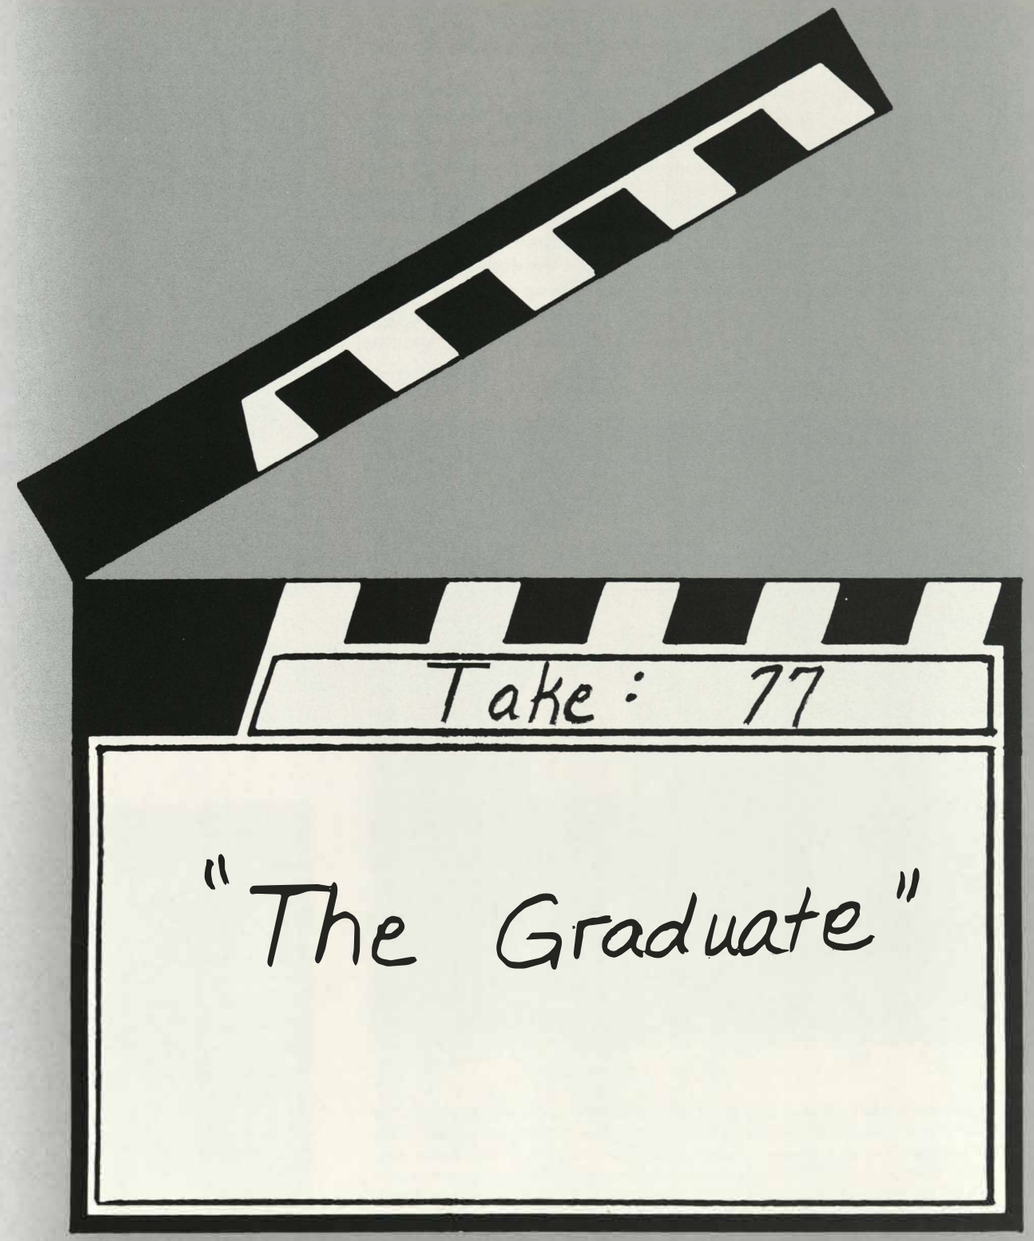
SENIORS



Senior Board begins year with money-making project

Working hard this year raising money to lower Senior dues was the Senior Board. The first money-making project held was the sale of official Wyandotte T-shirt and shorts. During the month of October, giant coloring books were sold. The coloring books were sold for $3 and brought in a profit of approximately $800. A football game in which the women faculty played against Senior girls was held in October during sixth hour. The Senior Board also had the responsibility of planning the Senior Prom, Commencement exercises, and Baccalaureate. They made plans for the Senior Breakfast and also picked the design of the announcements. Board members were selected after submitting petitions to Ms. Newman, Mr. Gaitan and Mr. Shepherd, sponsors. Each petition needed fifty signatures from other members of the Senior Class. Thirty-eight students petitioned for membership but only sixteen were selected.

The Board took surveys from seniors to determine their preferences on this and other topics.

Big Red Seniors change traditional Graduation robes

The class of 1977 made many changes in Graduation activities beginning with the change from traditional blue caps and gowns to red ones. National Honor Society members received white cords to wear on the gowns honoring their membership. By changing the location of the Senior Prom to the school cafeteria instead of the Little Theater at Municipal Auditorium where it has been held recently, there were more funds available for a better band and refreshments. Many activities were available to graduating Seniors as World's of Fun held a Senior night on May 7, Baccalaureate service was held on May 22, and the Senior breakfast was held in the school cafeteria, on May 23 preceeding Graduation practice that morning and the traditional ceremonies that evening. The class motto of '77 was "It's hard to say goodbye to yesterday", and the red rose was decided on as the class flower by a Senior Class Board survey.

(4) Memories of their high school days at Wyandotte are recalled as Tina Zaragoza, John Siscoe and Tami Carter take one last look toward the stage before they leave. (5) As the graduates enter the hall "Pomp and Circumstance" is played by Wyandotte's Orchestra.

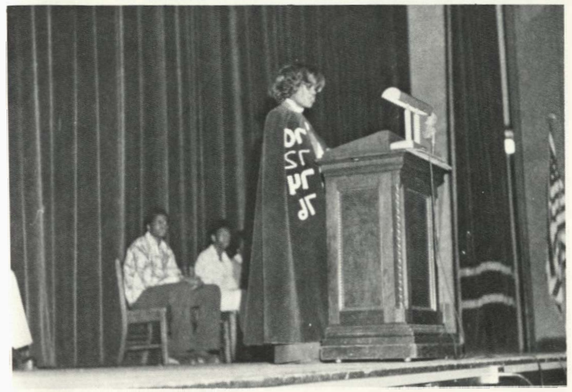
Filled with enthusiasm, Wyandotte's Kay Cee members boost the Bulldogs on to a victory against the Harmon Hawks.

Kathy Ledbetter '75-76 Junior Board president, presents the annual speech after receiving the traditional robe.



Dedication

We, the staff of the 1976-77 Quiverian, would like to take this opportunity to dedicate our 57th volume to Mr. Olin Wilson, owner of Atkisson Studios. Until his death this January, Mr. Wilson has served the Quiverian as our professional photographer since 1964. Prior to that time he periodically gave his assistance photographing teams, clubs and seniors. His has been a familiar face to all as he supported Wyandotte athletic and other events long after his sons had graduated, and far above what his responsibilities with the yearbook demanded. The personal interest of he and his wife, Mrs. Mary Wilson, in Wyandotte have helped Quiverian Staffs through the years to produce books of unquestionable photographic quality. For his years of service and dedication to Wyandotte we humbly pay our respect.

Acknowledgements

As the last familiar voice of the '77 class echoes down the hall, one more frame of our film is complete. Memories will be renewed as alumni turn the pages again and again to familiar faces and scenes. The staff could not have released this reel without the help and cooperation of the administration, faculty and students. We would like to thank those who made it possible to produce our book. Mrs. Mary Wilson and Mrs. Barbara Arsenault professional photographers from Atkisson Studios; Patrolman Ron Miller and the KCK Police Department for cooperation with the opening section; Randy Kratzer 1975 Quiverian photographer for taking this year's staff picture; Larry Lisbona, 1970 Wyandotte graduate for the cover and other artwork; Mr. Charles Burgess for the division page picture. We would also like to thank the cubs for their help in raising money and distribution. I would like to thank my staff for the close friendship and symmetry in which they worked. We would especially like to extend our gratitude to our advisor Miss Deb Medlin for her friendship and confidence in each of us. We are proud of this book and feel we have depicted "The Reel Life" of Wyandotte in 1977.
